COURAGE

It may seem that the higher we go,
the farther we have to fall.
What we may not consider, however,

is that there are an awful lot of branches to grab on to on the way down.
As long as we reach for them,
we may not fall all the way to the ground.

Let's not permit the height of our ambitions to deter us from climbing as far as we would like to go.
If we falter at the top and drop down a little,
we can always find another branch perhaps a sturdier one-to reach for and pull ourselves up again.

Office of the President

June 1, 1996

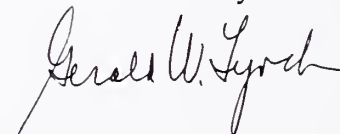

Dear Graduate:

We are very proud of you and the accomplishment of your graduation from John Jay College. You also should be justifiably proud of this milestone in your life which required tremendous perseverance, dedication and commitment. I and the entire John Jay College community salute you.

The challenges faced by society and the criminal justice system are daunting. I am confident your new degree has given you the tools to deal with these complex issues and will help you achieve your career goals and ambitions. We need you to be the leaders in finding new solutions to improve our society.

I join your friends and family in wishing you a future filled with success, happiness and professional fulfillment. We hope you will continue to rely on John Jay College in a multitude of ways in the future. I hope you take with you many fond and lasting memories of your alma mater which you will return to the next generation of John Jay students in abundance.

Sincerely,

Gerald W. Lynch
President

June, 1996

Dear Graduate:

I am delighted to join your friends and family in congratulating you upon your graduation from John Jay College. This is a proud accomplishment and one that I know you worked very hard to achieve.

There are many exciting challenges ahead of you. With your new degree you have taken an important step toward meeting your career goals and helping shape our society for the better.

Now that you have completed formal studies at the College, I invite you to stay in touch with fellow students, professors, and other graduates as an active member of our alumni association.

May I wish you a successful future filled with prosperity, professional rewards and great happiness. I hope you will think of keeping John Jay College a part of it. Good luck!

Sincerely,

Mary De Piano Rothlein

YEARBOOK 1996

My congratulations to you, the graduating class of 1996.

Ahead of you lie challenging times. Unlike any other time has there been such contact and communication among the world's peoples. Advances in technology have thrust us together to such a degree, that we are compelled to acknowledge and come to grips with each others' differences. For all of us, particularly the more educated and the more fortunate, it is essential that we contribute positively to mankind through our goodwill and understanding of one another's culture, race and religion.

For now, though, celebrate your achievement with all those special people who were there for you.

John W. Smith
V.P. of Administration

*To: The Graduating Class of 1996
From: Provost Basil Wilson*

When I speak with graduating seniors, I am always amazed at the intermittent obstacles that you have overcome to achieve the goal of an undergraduate degree. For so many of you this has not been an easy journey. Despite the societal odds and the precariousness of the marketplace, through your indomitable spirit, you have reached the mountain top. I salute your sterling accomplishment.

You have now entered the new world of the college graduate. It is your task to ensure that you remain a permanent citizen of the world of the mind. Enjoy all the privileges and in the process, make certain that you make your contribution to the strengthening of American civil society.

B.W.

Dear Graduates:

It gives me great pleasure to congratulate you on achieving this major milestone! While education is an ongoing process, formal college education furnishes you with the opportunity to learn about life through exposure to history, law, science, government, literature, the arts, co-curricular and extra-curricular activities in a concentrated amount of time. Your tenure at John Jay College has provided you with a wealth of knowledge, opportunities, and memories. It is, hopefully, a time you will look back with great pride and see it as an experience that has given you the strength of character and commitment to excellence, which will be a plus for a bright and successful future.

As educators, it has been our goal to support you in your academic endeavors and we hope that we have been successful in bringing you to the end of this journey with the knowledge and power to create a challenging and satisfying career. Recognition of and appreciation for your past accomplishments and a commitment to your future will surely bring about a rewarding life.

Many of you will start new and exciting careers, some of you will prepare for graduate and professional studies, while others will experience career enhancement in their current field of work. We hope that the knowledge you have gained, the wealth of opportunities and experiences at John Jay have equipped you to meet the challenges of the 21st Century.

As you move forth into the world, remember your past, live in the present, and work toward a rich and joyous future. Congratulations and best wishes to each of you!

Sincerely,

Roger Witherspoon

TO THE CLASS OF 1996

It is with pleasure that I congratulate the John Jay College Class of 1996 upon the occasion of graduation.

Inevitably you will in time become the leaders in your communities. Be worthy of this trust and exercise your leadership in such manner as to bring credit to yourself and to your charges at all times and never ever surrender your souls to those standing by to take it.

Office of Special Programs

Dear Graduates of 1996:

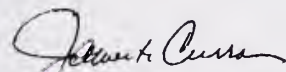

Earning a college degree is a very significant achievement. Without question, a whole new world of professional opportunity becomes yours the day you receive your John Jay College degree.

In many ways the world that awaits you will indeed be new. You will face opportunities and challenges that are different from the opportunities and challenges that confronted your predecessors.

Previous generations of John Jay graduates did not have to look beyond the borders of their own city or region to find a rich variety of rewarding career opportunities. Globalization, the dramatic shift to a one world, multinational economy, means that today's graduates must be prepared to have greater vision. In all likelihood, many members of John Jay's Class of 1996 will find themselves working, for some or all their professional lives, in other regions of our nations, or in other parts of the world. Language skills, Multicultural sensitivity, and a comprehensive grasp of the history and politics of the world beyond the borders of the United States are some of the tools that will serve today's generation of John Jay graduates well.

Your degree is evidence that you've made the effort to prepare yourself for an intellectually demanding and rewarding life. Congratulations on your achievement and best wishes for continued success, growth, and learning in the future.

Sincerely,

James T. Curran
Dean for Special Programs

Dear Graduates,

Congratulations! I know that you are proud, as you should be, to have joined the ranks of John Jay students who have successfully completed the requirements for graduation. The faculty and administration are equally proud to have been able to provide you with a first class education. We know how hard you have worked to achieve this goal. The long hours of study and lost sleep in preparing for examinations have paid off. You have graduated from one of the finest institutions of higher education any place in the world and now your future is in your hands. From this point onward, opportunities will come and go and it will be up to each of you to decide how you will make your mark in society. We have given you a solid foundation on which you can build your career. I urge you to be an active citizen. I urge you to be a leader, rather than a follower. It is up to you to make a difference. I know that you will.

With best wishes,

Lawrence Kobylinsky Ph.D.

Dear Graduates,

This message is written to express my heartfelt congratulations to you, on obtaining your undergraduate degree. You have shown through perseverance that you were able to meet the tasks of going through college, and applying the educational and personal skills necessary for academic achievement. I'm sure that this experience has provided the expertise that will help you succeed in the professional arena.

The best to all of you as you continue to strive toward excellence in graduate school, law school or the career of your choice. Remember, as a productive citizen, you have the opportunity to help lead this nation into the 21st century.

Sincerely,

Dr. Rubie M. Malone

As a member of the Class of '76, it gives me great pleasure to congratulate you on your accomplishments and welcome you to the John Jay Alumni family.

As you continue down life's path I know that the knowledge, relationships and personal growth experienced at John Jay will guide you in the pursuit of your goals. I wish you health, happiness and success.

Sincerely,

Dean Frank W. Marousek

Dear Graduates,

It is with joy that I, on this day of your graduation, reflect on the memories and the activities that I shared with you at John Jay. Your graduation is significant, since it symbolizes a new beginning in your life. You are embarking on a new era, one that will hold many challenges and rewards. As you read this message I am sure that you feel elated for having completed one of your most important and memorable goals. Completing a degree for many is a dream, but for you, because of your persistence, the dream has become a reality. What you do next with the knowledge you have gained at John Jay is up to you.

I encourage you to continue to grow and to build on this experience. Knowledge is a gift and you should share it with your friends, family and community. You are our future leaders and represent our hope for peace and a better life. The degree you hold is a valuable tool. Use it wisely to make a positive impact on your community. You are the maker of your own stories. All of us come with some special gift to contribute to humanity. The quality of yours is in your heart.

You have made us all very proud so I join you and your family in this celebration. Congratulations and good luck.

Sincerely,

Hector Ortiz

Dear Graduates:

I am delighted to offer my warmest congratulations to the Graduates of the Class of 1996. You are the future leaders in Criminal Justice in New York and the nation. Your burden is big, but the opportunity to make a real difference in people's lives is even bigger. You have my best wishes for professional success and personal happiness.

To the Class of 1996:

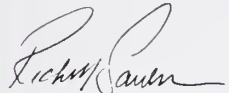

Congratulations on your great achievement. You have persevered where others have fallen by the wayside. There are two thoughts I would like you to take with you.

First, consider going on for an advanced degree. The university of tomorrow needs dedicated and committed young people to replace the professors and administrators who have assisted you in education. In a short period of time there will be positions available for individuals who have the foresight to have pursued advanced degrees. Life is a series of opportunities. You need to be in the right place at the right time. However, when the right time comes along you need to be ready!

Second, I would like you to be vigilant in your support of public higher education. You are our most recent success story. Each day the education you have received is being attacked from a variety of sides. There are some who complain about lax standards. You know that is not true. Tuition is increasing. The education you received is becoming less affordable. The federal government is discussing reductions in grant and loan programs. All of these things will change public higher education for the students who follow you and for your children. Fight for public education! Speak out to defend the degree you so richly deserve.

Once again, congratulations! You and your loved ones should be very proud of your accomplishments.

Sincerely,

Richard Saulnier, Ph.D.

Dear Graduates,

It is a pleasure to congratulate you on the successful completion of a long and difficult course of study. Your quest for knowledge and pursuit of higher education marks you as a leader. I urge you to carry the dedication which made graduation possible into your everyday lives. Graduating from college is not an end but a beginning.

Best wishes for your personal growth and professional success.

HEROES

Who are the heroes of our society?

High priced athletes who dunk a basket ball?

Multimillion dollar entertainers?

*We as a society seem to place
a very high value on entertainment;
While neglecting to reward to many who make critical contributions to our society including the people in whose hands we entrust our next generation.*

Today's real heroes are the teachers in our schools who everyday face the problem of too many students in their classrooms.

Too few books.

Too many kids on drugs.

Too many parents who don't care

Our teachers go above and beyond the call of duty every school day, Month after month, Year after year.

*Yet they are underappreciated and undercompensated.
Let us take a moment to thank those caring teachers and to honor them. Let us salute the real All-American Heroes.*

HAZEL N. DUKES is a woman of great strength and courage. Her dedication to human rights and equality is exemplified by her active role linking together business, government and social causes. Ms. Dukes is the President of the New York State Conference of NAACP Branches, and a member of and former President to the National Board of Directors of the NAACP. Ms. Dukes has served as an advisor to two Presidents and as a Commissioner for two mayors and three governors. Most recently she served as Commissioner of the New York City Off-Track Betting Corporation, appointed by former Mayor David Dinkins.

EDWARD W. PITT is a Senior Research Associate and Director of the National Practitioners Network for Fathers and Families at the Families & Work Institute in New York City. He brings to his current work more than 25 years of experience developing and testing innovative approaches for tackling complex health and social problems including juvenile delinquency, infant mortality, teenage pregnancy, and AIDS. For 12 years Mr. Pitt was Director of Health & Social Welfare at the National Urban League at which time he spearheaded the League's development of a broad perspective on men and family related issues.

Mr. Pitt was a Delegate to the White House Conference on the Family and has organized and convened three national conferences on the theme, "Manhood and Fatherhood." He has been a resource consultant to numerous foundations including: the Carnegie Corporation of New York, the Ford Foundation, and the Rockefeller Foundation. Most recently Mr. Pitt served on the Secretary's Advisory Committee on Services to Infants and Toddlers and was appointed to the Advisory Board of the National Ready to Learn Project sponsored by the Corporation for Public Broadcasting. He has appeared on ABC Evening News, CBS Night Watch and Bill Moyers Journal.

Conference on Criminal Justice Education
October 3-5, 1996
John Jay College of Criminal Justice
The City University of New York

Plenary Speaker: Dr. Kathryn Russell of the University of Maryland

"The Criminology of Race: What the Profession Has Wrought"

This conference seeks to explore the current state of criminal justice education from the widest variety of perspectives. The conference will accommodate a range of presentations including panels, workshops, demonstrations, multimedia displays and poster sessions. We are reaching out to anyone whose teaching, research, practice, study and experience relates to criminal justice education in its broadest sense. We welcome submissions from criminal justice educators and from educators in other disciplines whose research relates to criminal justice training and education. We invite submissions from practitioners in the field, from graduate students in criminal justice and related fields, and from community based researchers. Submissions may address, but are not limited to, the following areas.

- The relationship between the university and criminal justice agencies
- Measurement of teaching effectiveness by peers, administrators and students
- The role of academic research in criminal justice practice
- Criminal justice education in a liberal arts setting
- Associate, baccalaureate, masters and doctoral degrees in criminal justice
- Teaching criminal justice ethics in the classroom and on the job
- International and comparative criminal justice education
- Issues of race, gender and ethnicity in criminal justice education and training
- The forensic sciences in criminal justice education
- Alumni retrospectives on criminal justice programs

Putting Winning In Perspective

I propose we redefine the meaning of winning in the area of amateur athletics. The general public must begin to recognize that winning comes in many different ways. First we must recognize the two teams or individuals competing against each other. What are their philosophies, their size, the emphasis on athletics and possibly recruiting? For example, the now famous Georgetown-Princeton basketball game. Princeton nearly pulled off an upset over a much more talented Georgetown team. Did Princeton really lose? Of course by points scored it lost, but in terms of effort and desire it certainly won.

In the case of Little League, what importance does the town or community put on winning and losing? Does a town spend more money on equipment, have better fields, attract better players? Certainly chances are they would have better teams and win more games.

Every athlete has a certain potential. With intense physical and mental training an athlete can realize this potential and still lose a match. However, this is not really losing. In the classroom that same athlete might be getting A's because he or she is spending extra time in the library or study hall. This is not losing in my opinion.

With the increased emphasis on young children and young adults to win, I feel we must emphasize to them the difficulty in making it to the pros and emphasize the importance of other areas of winning. Is the team or athlete winning in the library, in the community, at home?

PORTRAIT OF A STAR

The first detailed image of a distant star shows that the red giant Betelgeuse has a single, gargantuan hot spot that may be 12,000 degrees and an atmosphere extending much farther into space than once thought.

A Hubble Space Telescope image of Betelgeuse gives for the first time details of a star other than the sun and suggests that it may have dramatic physical differences from the sun.

"We have looked into space and have seen the face of a star," said Andrea Dupree of Harvard-Smithsonian Center for Astrophysics in Cambridge, Massachusetts. "It is exciting."

Betelgeuse, 500 light years from the earth, is the shoulder star in the constellation Orion, the Hunter. It is the seventh brightest star in the winter sky of the northern hemisphere and appears to have a reddish tint to the naked eye.

PRESIDENT CLINTON

President Bill Clinton entered the third year of his term as no president has done for 40 years — with a Republican Congress. As he began this new year, he resolved to “put aside partisan differences.”

In April 1995, the Senate passed a bill that cut $16 billion from various social programs while sparing other items favored by Clinton. Although the President called the bill “the model of how we can work together,” the gap remained wide over such issues as tax cuts, welfare reform and spending reductions.

Although cautious in dealing with the new Congress, Clinton has raised his profile and taken a firm stand on issues. He said he would try to work with the Republicans on their agenda, but would “no doubt” veto some of their proposals.

On April 14, 1995, Clinton filed the necessary documents with Federal Election Commission and made formal his candidacy for re-election.

NEWT GINGRICH

In January 1995, Newt Gingrich became the first Republican Speaker of the House in 40 years. The 51-year-old Georgia Congressman had his sights set on this position even before he won a House seat on his third try in 1976.

Gingrich, narrowly elected as minority whip in 1989, saw his goal in reach when the GOP won a majority of Congressional seats in 1994 and when Minority Leader Robert Mitchel declined to run for another term.

Gingrich has proven adept at grabbing headlines and preaching morality. In 1989, he drove Speaker Jim Wright from office with relentless attacks of ethics violations. In 1994, he alleged that one-quarter of the White House staff had recently used drugs, a charge that remains unsubstantiated.

Gingrich helped orchestrate the “Contract With America” as the GOP’s national agenda in the 1994 elections. It called for a balanced-budget amendment, welfare reform and an anti-crime package.

In April 1995, his prime-time televised speech marked the first time a congressional leader received such coverage. In the address, Gingrich summarized the first 100 days of the new Congress.

OKLAHOMA CITY BOMBING

On April 19, 1995, a car bomb exploded in Oklahoma City (OK), destroying the Alfred P. Murrah Federal Building and killing scores of men, women and young children.

The force of the blast tore off the building's facade and sent it flying 50 feet across the street, where it slammed into another building and came to rest in a parking lot. With the outer wall of the building suddenly gone, workers tumbled out of their offices and into the street where the blast had carved a crater 30 feet wide.

Shortly after the explosion, Timothy McVeigh, a Gulf War veteran was arrested for carrying a concealed weapon. Two days later, he was recognized as one of the bombing suspects and was charged.

McVeigh's trial is pending.

BOB DOLE CAMPAIGN

"Why do you want to be president?" asked the TV host.

"Every country needs a president," replied Republican Senator Bob Dole.

In April 1995 the Kansas Senator became the sixth Republican to formally declare his candidacy for a move into the White House in 1996.

This is the third presidential attempt for Dole, who unsuccessfully ran in Republican primaries in 1980 and 1988. His intention is to cut taxes, balance the budget and "lead America back to her place in the sun."

Dole began his political career in 1951, serving in the Kansas legislature. He served in the House of Representatives from 1961 through 1969 and has been a Senator since.

Dole's latest bid to become president does not have precedence on its side — only three times have sitting Senators been elected President.

Age is another factor that may discourage voters. If elected, Dole would be 73 years old upon entering office. This would make him the oldest newly elected president in history.

CONFLICT IN BOSNIA

Despite continued NATO air strikes and U.N. peace efforts, the conflict in the former Yugoslavia rages on, with no letup in sight. 1995 began with a four month ceasefire mediated by former United States President Jimmy Carter, but the truce didn't put an end to the fighting.

The former Yugoslavia has been the scene of a civil war since June 1991, and the fighting intensified in 1992 after the republic of Bosnia-Herzegovina declared its independence.

Bosnian Serbs, seeking independence from Bosnia, began their siege of the capitol, Sarajevo, as the European community and the United States formally recognized Bosnia. More than 200,000 people have been killed or are missing since the fighting began.

In May 1995, NATO planes attacked Serb ammunition depots. The Serbs responded by attacking "safe areas," killing many and taking hundreds of U.N. peacekeeper hostages.

In June, Serbs downed a U.S. F-16 over northern Bosnia. The pilot, Air Force Captain Scott O'Grady, hid for six days until he was rescued by U.S. Marines.

The conflict and the peace talks continue.

COLIN POWELL

In September, 1995, Colin Powell embarked on a cross-country book tour to promote his autobiography, "My American Journey." As he did this, he also promoted the motion that his next journey might be along the campaign trail, seeking the presidency of the United States in 1996.

Powell, 58 years old, is the former chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, the first African-American person to hold that position. He rose to fame through his leadership in the Persian Gulf war.

The views expressed by Powell seem to leave him out of either mainstream Republicans or Democrats. In his book, he asserts his belief in free enterprise and lower taxes, and says that he is put off by "patronizing liberals." He does, however, support women's rights, gun control and was alarmed by a "troubling mix of politics and religion" at the 1992 Republican convention.

He sees himself as the "sensible center of the American political spectrum," declaring no allegiance to any political party.

JERRY GARCIA

The leader of the Grateful Dead was gone.

Jerry Garcia, co-founder of rock music's the Grateful Dead, died of a heart attack while in a drug rehabilitation center in suburban San Francisco.

The guitarist, composer and singer passed away on August 9, 1995, just eight days after his 53rd birthday.

Deadheads, as the group's followers were known, quickly gathered to note the passing of their fallen leader. Crowds formed in public areas in San Francisco, Garcia's hometown, and in other cities to share their loss. A single red rose was tied to a tree in front of the San Francisco address where the Dead began in 1964.

The Grateful Dead blended rock, bluegrass and folk flavors into their own sound. Although studio recordings by the group were rare — the most recent was released in 1989 — the Grateful Dead remained a very popular concert attraction.

Jerry Garcia had the rare distinction of having an ice cream flavor named for him — Ben & Jerry's "Cherry Garcia." The company's founders said that Garcia had inspired their business philosophy.

GRAF DEFEATS SELES AT U.S. OPEN

It was a match between two players vying for the top position in women's tennis. On September 9, 1995, Germany's Steffi Graf emerged as #1 as she beat Monica Seles in New York to win her fourth U.S. Open title.

For Graf, it was the third consecutive Grand Slam title, coming after victories at Wimbledon and at the French Open.

"Nothing can ever come close to this one. I had a lot of obstacles to climb over," said Graf, who played with a bone bruise on one foot. Another complication was Graf's father who is serving time in a German prison on tax-fraud charges.

In spite of her defeat on the tennis court, Monica Seles feels like a victor of sorts. This loss was the first in a dozen matches that marked her inspired return to the sport after a two-year absence. Seles had been stabbed in the back by a deranged fan at a match in Hamburg, Germany.

"It has been very exciting to me playing again," Seles said. "As long as I keep having fun, that is what is going to matter to me the most."

NUCLEAR PROTEST

On September 5, 1995, France resumed underground nuclear testing when it detonated a device under a remote atoll in the South Pacific.

Worldwide protests preceded the nuclear test, and criticism from the world followed it.

Anti-nuclear demonstrations were staged in various parts of the world, including Paris, Tokyo, Switzerland, Australia, and Hiroshima. Two days of rioting, looting and firebombing exploded in Papeete, Tahiti, which lies about 750 miles from the test site. Two ships, part of a Greenpeace "peace flotilla," were stormed and captured by French commandos nearby.

France's President Jacques Chirac defended the tests, saying they would provide information allowing France to conduct computer-simulated tests in the future. Chirac also said that more tests were planned, but that France would sign a global test-ban treaty at their conclusion.

WOMEN'S CONFERENCE IN CHINA

It was Hillary Clinton's first visit to China, and she made it a memorable one. In a speech to the United Nation's Fourth World Conference on Women, the first lady took on the world.

Her speech, delivered on September 5, 1995, made a call for human rights and freedom of expression, and she said that it was indefensible that many women who registered for the conference were denied visas or were unable to fully participate.

Mrs. Clinton surprised her audience and the host nation by rebuking Beijing for its treatment of private activists who said they were harassed by authorities during a parallel forum held in Huairou, China, just 30 miles away.

The conference platform called for measures to alleviate women's poverty, and improve health care, job opportunities and education.

MTV AWARDS

This summer it seemed as though Hootie and the Blowfish were playing every time you turned on the radio.

The four-man rock group that seemed to come out of nowhere and dominate the audio scene did not go unnoticed on the video scene. Hootie, featuring vocals by lead singer Darius Rucker, won an MTV award for the best new artist for their video, "Hold My Hand." The presentation was made at the 12th Annual MTV Video Music Awards held in September 1995 at Radio City Music Hall in New York.

Dennis Miller hosted the ceremony, which included awards to Tom Petty for best male video, "You Don't Know How It Feels," and Madonna for best female video, "Take A Bow."

TLC won video of the year for "Waterfalls," a cautionary AIDS song.

While presenting best rap video award to Dr. Dre, Madonna lashed out at Republican presidential candidate Bob Dole for his previous criticism of the violent, sexist lyrics of some rap records.

Biggest winners of the night: TLC and Weezer, each of whom had to make room on their mantels for four awards.

CAL RIPKEN'S STREAK

For months, baseball fans were talking about The Streak.

With each game he played, Baltimore Orioles shortstop Cal Ripken Jr. drew one game closer to breaking one of baseball's "unbreakable" records.

In 1939, Yankee first baseman Lou Gehrig retired after having appeared in 2,130 consecutive games, an accomplishment that surely would never be equalled.

In 1995, Ripken not only equalled it — he surpassed it!

On September 6, 1995, Ripken took the field, as he had done in every Orioles game since May 30, 1982, to play against the California Angels. This was consecutive game 2,131 — but not until the fifth inning, when baseball games become official.

When the fifth inning came, fireworks exploded and cameras flashed, as 10-foot banners bearing "2-1-3-1" — were unfurled in the outfield stands of Baltimore's Camden Yards.

The fans stood and cheered for Ripken, who emerged from the dugout and gave his jersey to his wife and two children. His teammates pushed the reluctant Ripken back out onto the field where he made a "thank you" lap around the ballpark, shaking hands with the fans. The ovation lasted 22 minutes.

Befitting a hero, Ripken hit a home run in the game won by the Orioles 4-2.

THE RELEASE OF HARRY WU

On August 24, 1995, human rights activist Harry Wu set foot on American soil after being imprisoned in China for 66 days.

Wu, a native of China and a naturalized U.S. citizen, had been taken into custody on June 19 while trying to enter China at a remote border crossing.

He was convicted on charges of stealing state secrets and was sentenced to 15 years in prison. Within hours, however, he was released and deported, in an apparent attempt to improve delicate relations between the United States and China.

Wu's trip to China had been one of several clandestine treks he had made since 1991 for the purpose of researching and filming evidence of abuses in China's prison labor camps. His efforts had resulted in television documentaries that gained international attention.

It was a hero's welcome that greeted Wu as he stepped off the plane at San Francisco International Airport. Crowded around his wife, Ching-Lee, were dozens of supporters carrying "Welcome Home" signs, yellow ribbons and roses.

A few days after his return, Wu and his wife cut down the yellow ribbon that had been hanging throughout his imprisonment on the City Hall of his hometown of Milpitas, California.

POPE JOHN PAUL II VISITS UNITED STATES

For a few days, a religious man dominated the headlines. And for a change, it gave Americans something good to talk about.

The news maker was Pope John Paul II, and the occasion was his visit to the United States in early October 1995.

The 75-year-old pontiff began his five-day visit by addressing the United Nations General Assembly in conjunction with the organization's 50th anniversary.

During his stay, the pope celebrated outdoor mass in both New York and New Jersey. Rainy, windy weather did little to dampen the spirits of the faithful who gathered to hear him speak, catch a glimpse of him or even touch him as he swept past.

In Baltimore (MD), he addressed an audience at the baseball stadium and lunched at a soup kitchen before flying back to Rome.

Throughout his visit, the pope called for greater attention to the needs of the less fortunate.

HURRICANE OPAL

On the evening of October 4, 1995, Hurricane Opal came ashore on Florida's Gulf Coast, packing sustained winds of 125 miles per hour. Before it was through, the storm had killed at least 20 people in four states and caused at least $1.8 billion in damages to insured properties, making it the third-costliest storm in U.S. history.

Hurricane Opal swung east toward Florida after striking Mexico's Yucatan Peninsula.

The storm destroyed or damaged thousands of homes and businesses along a 120-mile stretch of the Florida Panhandle. Many of its residents were still recovering from and repairing damage inflicted by Hurricane Erin two months earlier.

Opal caused the sea to rise 15 feet and sweep away nearly everything on the lower floors of homes and businesses along the edge of the Gulf Coast. Power outages were widespread, and there were many incidents of looting.

Some of the hurricane's victims were allowed to return home a week after fleeing, even though water, electricity and sewer services had not been restored. Others, from more severely damaged areas, had to wait longer.

AMTRAK CRASH

The news was terrible: an Amtrak train derailed while crossing a trestle in a remote desert region of Arizona, 55 miles southwest of Phoenix.

What made the news even worse was the suspicion of sabotage.

Occurring around 1AM on October 9, 1995, the derailment of Amtrak's Sunset Limited, enroute from Miami to Los Angeles, sent four of its cars into the gulch 30 feet below the trestle. One person was killed and more than 70 were injured.

The derailment was caused by the removal of a metal bar that held two sections of rail together. The culprit installed a wire, disabling a light that would have warned the train's crew about the break. The saboteur's apparent knowledge about the warning system led to speculation that it might be the work of a railroad employee.

Found at the scene was a letter that made reference to the federal sieges at Waco, Texas, and Ruby Ridge, Idaho, and also mentioned the FBI and the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms. It was signed "Sons of Gestapo."

The letter raised fears that the derailment was the work of anti-government terrorists, although experts in the field were unfamiliar with the signature.

MILLION MAN MARCH

The gathering in Washington, D.C. on October 16, 1995, was tremendous. Hundreds of thousands of African-American men converged on the nation's capitol in response to the call from Louis Farrakhan, the Nation of Islam's leader, to rally for unity and brotherhood.

It was the fourth largest demonstration in Washington's history, and the largest predominantly African-American gathering.

There were dozens of speakers, including civil right veterans Rosa Parks, Dick Gregory and the Reverend Jesse Jackson. Stevie Wonder sang, and Maya Angelou read a poem that urged the men to do right by themselves and "save your race."

The rally's climax was Farrakhan's speech in which he led the men in a pledge to "never raise my hand with a knife or gun to beat, cut or shoot . . . any human being." He urged the rally to join organizations, gain political control, fight racism and rid their neighborhoods of crime, drugs and violence.

O. J. SIMPSON VERDICT

On October 3, 1995, the long-running, real-life soap opera played its final episode.

In "the trial of the century," O. J. Simpson was acquitted in the June 12, 1994, stabbing murder of his former wife, Nicole Brown Simpson, and her friend, Ronald Goldman.

Americans followed the trial for more than a year, listening to testimony, digesting the evidence and speculating on whether the former football superstar and film actor was guilty.

The jury reached its verdict in less than four hours deliberation, after listening to 133 days of testimony and considering more than 800 pieces of evidence.

It was a case that would leave Americans with many lasting images:

- A white Ford Bronco leading a police chase;
- Simpson trying on "the murder gloves" in court;
- The testimony of prosecution witness Police Detective Mark Fuhrman, whose credibility was later destroyed when it was shown that he lied under oath about his use of racial epithets.

In a statement made soon after his acquittal, Simpson vowed he would dedicate his life to a search for the real killers.

WORLD SERIES

The Cleveland Indians and the Atlanta Braves squared off in the first World Series in two years. This was, perhaps, the first between teams with politically incorrect nicknames.

The hard-hitting Indians compiled a lofty team batting average of .291 for the season, while the Braves pitching staff, led by Greg Maddux (19-2), was widely acknowledged to be the game's best.

It was a Series of the bats vs. the arms. And in the end, the arms were held aloft in triumph.

The Braves won the Series in six games, after taking a two-games-to-none lead in their home park. They won the Series on their return to Atlanta with a 1-0 victory marked by David Justice's home run and the one-hit pitching of Tom Glavine, who was named Series MVP.

MIDEAST PEACE ACCORD

"The sight you see before you . . . was impossible, was unthinkable, just three years ago," Israel's Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin told those present at the East Room of the White House.

The "sight" was the September 28, 1995, signing of an accord between Israel and the PLO that would end Israel's military occupation of West Bank cities and lay the foundation for a Palestinian state.

President Clinton presided over the ceremony which featured two hours of speeches and pageantry before an audience of diplomats, foreign ministers, Cabinet secretaries and members of Congress.

The agreement outlines the process for gradual withdrawal of Israeli troops and transfer of governing authority for Palestinian self-rule in 30 percent of the West Bank. It also allows for Palestinian elections and the release of 5,000 Palestinian prisoners being held by Israel.

*Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin was assassinated by a Jewish extremist in Israel on Saturday, November 4, 1995.

U.S. TROOPS ARRIVE IN BOSNIA

The first U.S. Apache and Blackhawk helicopters roared into Bosnia on December 24 (1995), a tangible sign of a NATO mission commanders said was on target and taking control of front-line positions.

While the eight American helicopters, part of the 1st Armored Division, were arriving in the northern city of Tuzla, the headquarters for U.S. troops, French soldiers were extending control in Sarajevo, where a curfew was lifted for Christmas Eve and Christmas.

French troops seized front line checkpoints north of the city, and took over part of a large resort in Serb-held Ilidza west of Sarajevo that is to become a NATO headquarters. They also reached agreement with Serbs and the Muslim-led government on an initial pullback from front line positions around the Bosnian capitol.

In Sarajevo itself, the city's people strolled peaceful streets into the early morning. Hope came with Christmas.

SUPER BOWL XXX

Despite playing nowhere near their best, the Dallas Cowboys won their Third Super Bowl in four seasons on January 18 (1996), beating Pittsburgh 27-17. And they did it behind the heroics of cornerback Larry Brown, whose career has been spent in the shadow of glamour guys named Troy, Michael, Emmitt and Deion.

"We did it! We did it! We did it!" exulted coach Barry Switzer.

With this win, the Cowboys placed themselves in elite company. No team has gotten that many Super Bowl titles in such a short span. These Cowboys, basically the same mix of stars and blue-collar workers who won twice under Jimmy Johnson, went just as far with the oft-maligned Barry Switzer.

Switzer had a trying two seasons as Johnson's replacement. His every move was dissected, and when he goofed — as in the fourth-and-1 play at Philadelphia that was the low point in the season for Dallas — he was vilified.

Switzer, just like his outgoing, often outrageous players, has earned the right to brag.
